Under the Same Moon: La Misma Luna

“A brave film that proudly puts a face to an issue that has polarized America.”

Joseph Belanger, IMDB.com

Spanish & English with English subtitles PG-13

Nine year old Carlitos lives with his grandmother in a depressed Mexican town. His mother, Rosario, cleans houses in Los Angeles, working hard to raise money to support her mother and son. They long for each other, & keep in touch via a weekly phone conversation.

When his grandmother dies, Carlitos decides to make his way to L.A. to find his mother. From this point on "Moon" becomes a road movie, with Carlitos hooking up with the wrong people, who put him in jeopardy, and the occasional right ones.

“This movie gets to you, earning the audience's emotions honestly rather than by manipulation. It's impossible not to care about the fate of 9-year-old Carlitos as played by Adrian Alonson ... a natural who never appears to be acting..”

Ruthe Stein, San Francisco Chronicle
